CONTACT WARTA JEMAAT

ST JOHN'S ANGLICAN CHURCH, CAMBERWELL
Pentecost 21—Sunday 18 October 2015

My Dear Friends,

Jesus' diagnosis of his disciples' spiritual situation in today's gospel is timelessly razor-sharp and incisive for all would-be followers of Jesus the Christ: "You do not know what you are asking. Are you able to drink the cup that I drink, or be baptised with the baptism that I am to be baptised with?"

Jesus sees them. He sees into them. He sees through them. He sees the danger of the religious persona which it is all too easy to put on. James and John have been with him enough, seen and heard enough to know better. They have even been taken up the mountain, they have witnessed transfiguration. Yet for all that, they have no idea what they are asking.

Their request for being seated at Jesus' right and left hand betrays their abiding and deep-seated spiritual feudalism – that is, they still regard God in the same terms as the world, as overlord of a patriarchal hierarchical kingdom, promoting and demoting with royal divine right. Their idea of messiah remains embedded in a static world-view, stuck in imperial, triumphalist, tribal, monarchical, juridical-legal terms. They want a messiah who will rescue them and conquer their enemies. Their messiah will reward them, and those like them, but burn in an eternal fire all who do not. In Luke's gospel James and John, we recall, specifically suggest this to Jesus.

James and John are still with us – in us. The churches continue to teach and promote a static world-view overseen by a patriarchal monarch dispensing favours to loyal subjects. The dominant image of messiah most evident in church teaching and preaching and worship and hymns is still a rescuer, to whom we appeal in order to win eternal rewards. Many Christians continue to envisage mission as conquest, the world's peoples as territory to be occupied. Nation states bless such religion.

This ancient pagan feudal-patriarchal religion runs very deep. And, as with the Pharisees and Scribes with whom Jesus does battle, those who apparently know their bibles very well tend to be most deeply embedded in this monarchical reward-and-punishment pagan religion.

Jesus the Christ sees eternally through us, naming the truth about us: "You do not know what you are asking. Are you able to drink the cup that I drink, or be baptised with the baptism that I am to be baptised with?" His cup and his baptism are the way of self-emptying: the very opposite of feudal patriarchal monarchy reward-and-punishment prosperity religion. His Way is a spiritual revolution. Christ discipleship is the Way of the Paschal Mystery. Baptism into Christ's death and resurrection is drowning to feudal religion, being born into the true Messiahship of self-emptying.

With my love, David
